AGENDA

Welcome

Executive Session (Closed to the Public)

General Session (Open to the Public)

- John Holliday spoke about Department of Debt Collections' (ODC) process for bail forfeitures
John explained that the ODC and the Insurance Department are separate statutorily. ODC cannot affect an agencies license. When the ODC receives a collection notice, a demand letter is sent out. If there is no response, action is turned over to John for further collections. John reviews the docket for validity. Once it is established it is still valid he sends a demand letter. If no monies are collected within 10 days additional fees are assessed. Mickey asked what happens if the bond has been exonerated? John said to provide him proof it has been exonerated or contact an attorney to make a motion to set aside. Michael made a suggestion to have John send out a letter prior to starting collection efforts. John stated he would be willing to do that.
